

FROM A CROSS PLACED ON RACK AGAIN.

says It Was Impossible to Brook Foresee Trouble at Hoe's Inter Factory at the Joseph Funeral today.

PARTRIDGE A QUESTIONER.

Commissioner Interrogates Him as to Whether It Wasn't True that Police Were Not in the Right Place at the Right Time.

The trial of Inspector Adam A. Cross of the police force in connection with the funeral of Rabbi Joseph was resumed before Commissioner Partridge today.

The Inspector was put on the stand and continued his testimony, which he commenced at the last hearing. In answer to Assistant Corporation Counsel Mellon, witness said he had been on duty for twenty-two years, and on the day of the funeral he was on duty at the Joseph funeral.

Could any steps have been taken to prevent this occurrence? "I don't know of any," was the Inspector's reply.

Witness told of several funerals he had officiated at as a police officer, and said he had charge of the police at the funeral of the corner-stone of Beth Israel Hospital and later provided police protection when the hospital was dedicated.

He had taken every precaution on these occasions, and had been commended by the management of the hospital for the excellence of the police arrangements.

"You didn't see all the police in the line of the funeral, did you?" asked Mr. Mellon.

"Not knowing about it I didn't," was a sufficient number of men to prevent trouble, why did it occur?" asked Commissioner Partridge.

"I think that answer needs qualification," said the Commissioner. "It was like the explosion of a bomb in a funeral," explained the Inspector.

Not in Right Place. "The men didn't happen to be in the right place at the right time. Does that mean anything?" asked the Commissioner.

"That is it," replied Inspector Cross. "We had been notified at 10 o'clock and had five men on duty at the funeral," explained the Inspector.

"Why?" inquired Mr. Mellon. "Because these people are ignorant, a great many of them," said the Commissioner.

"Now you are speculating," said the Commissioner. "I am not," said Inspector Cross. "But I say this, that they were so excited at that time in consequence of some wrong that had been done."

"I don't believe we can gain anything by all this speculation," interrupted the Commissioner.

This ended the Inspector's testimony. Detectives on the Stand. Detectives Israel S. Rosenberg and Charles P. Manning, of the Central Police, told of their work in the crowd at the funeral. Detective Manning said he was on duty at the funeral.

How he had received his wound and how he had to draw his revolver and threaten to shoot if the people who were in the crowd did not disperse.

"Where you in the hospital?" asked Mr. Mellon. "No, I remained on duty," was the answer.

This ended the case for the defense. Capt. John D. Herlihy's case, growing out of alleged neglect of duty in connection with the funeral, was then called. It was agreed to accept the testimony in the case of Cross where the name of Herlihy occurred as assisting in the funeral.

The lawyers will submit briefs to the Commissioner in the cases.

HER DEATH DUE TO THANKSGIVING

Something That Little Agnes Lynch Ate for the Festival Dinner Caused Her to Die of Poisoning.

THE MOTHER'S DREAD FIND.

Child Who Played with Her Red Falseface and Little Horn Yesterday Found Dead in Her Bed When Called for School To-Day.

Little Agnes Lynch, whose lot in life has never been a very happy one, forgot her childish troubles yesterday and played all day in the street with her tin horn and her red devil's mask. To-day she is dead. Her mother found her lifeless in her bed when she went to wake her this morning. It is supposed that her Thanksgiving dinner poisoned her.

Agnes lived with her father and mother at No. 6 West Sixty-seventh street. Her father is a laborer, who was at one time well-to-do, but who is now very poor. Their home is a tumble-down shanty which has been overlooked in the up-building of that section of the city.

The little girl attended Public School No. 87, at Seventy-seventh street and Amsterdam avenue. Yesterday being a holiday she was in the street all day long with the rest of the children, scrambling for the pennies which came now and then from the apartment-house windows.

She ate her Thanksgiving dinner at night, and an hour later complained of not feeling well. At 8 o'clock she went to bed. At midnight she was seized with nausea and vomited. Her mother merely thought something had disagreed with her and did not call a doctor. When she called Agnes this morning to go to school the child did not answer. The mother picked her up and lifted her from the bed. She found her little body cold and stiff.

In hysterics she ran into the street and got one of the neighbors to call a doctor in the hope that something might be done.

Dr. J. Harvey Dew, of No. 45 West Sixty-eighth street, went to the house. He said that the child had symptoms of poisoning, but he could not tell anything more definite in his opinion something which she had eaten was responsible for her death.

He notified Coroner Scholer, who ordered an autopsy.

SCHWAB TO RETURN FOR STEEL MEETING

President of Billion Dollar Trust Reported Better and Due Home by Christmas.

Officials of the United States Steel Corporation said today that Charles M. Schwab, President of the Billion Dollar Steel Trust, was returning to New York probably by Christmas, certainly by New Year, and that he would assume at once the duties of his position.

Recent reports from Mr. Schwab are all to the effect that he has practically regained his health and within a few weeks will be at work again.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the corporation will be held in January this year instead of April as heretofore.

It is President Schwab's intention to return before this meeting and to attend it. The election of officers takes place shortly after the stockholders' meeting, and this fact may explain his announced intention of returning within six weeks.

HORSE DEALER DROPS DEAD.

Was Talking with His Son When He Fell Lifeless to the Floor.

Edward G. De Cerna, a horse dealer, of No. 250 West Fifty-fifth street, died suddenly this morning at his place of business, No. 238 West Fifty-eighth street.

He was talking to his son when he put his hand over his heart and fell lifeless to the floor.

Coroner's Physician Weston granted a burial permit.

Miss Gannon, Sec'y Detroit Amateur

Art Association, tells young women what to do to avoid pain and suffering caused by female troubles.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I can conscientiously recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to those of my sisters suffering with female weakness and the troubles which so often befall women. I suffered for months with general weakness, and felt so weary that I had hard work to keep up. I had shooting pains and was utterly miserable. In my distress I was advised to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it was a red-letter day to me when I took the first dose, for at that time my restoration began. In six weeks I was a changed woman, perfectly well in every respect. I felt so elated and happy that I want all women who suffer to get well as I did."—MISS GUILA GANNON, 359 Jones St., Detroit, Mich., Secretary Amateur Art Association.

It is clearly shown in this young lady's letter that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will certainly cure the sufferings of women; and when one considers that Miss Gannon's letter is only one of the countless hundreds which we are continually publishing in the newspapers of this country the great virtue of Mrs. Pinkham's medicine must be admitted by all; and for the absolute cure of all kinds of female ills no substitute can possibly take its place. Women should bear this important fact in mind when they go into a drug store, and be sure not to accept anything that is claimed to be "just as good" as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for no other medicine for female ills has made so many actual cures.

How Another Young Sufferer Was Cured. "Dear Mrs. Pinkham—I must write and tell you what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered terribly every month at time of menstruation, and was not able to work. Your medicine has cured me of my trouble. I felt relieved after taking one bottle. I know of no medicine as good as yours for female troubles."—MISS EDITH CROSS, 169 Water street, Haverhill, Mass.

Remember, Mrs. Pinkham's advice is free, and all sick women are foolish if they do not ask for it. No other person has such vast experience and has helped so many women. Write to-day.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Economy in the Richness of Lambert Jewelry.

After the giving of thanks, the giving of presents. Economy in jewels would seem like the princess in the chimney corner. Yet false economy in the purchase of jewels and jewelry is too often present. Cheapness is not economy. The highest quality with the minimum of profit is the LAMBERT ECONOMY. It is directly in season when Christmas allowances must go as far as possible and the purchases not depart from ultra respectability. First, in DIAMONDS, we go abroad to the world's markets and buy. As importers—and only because we are—we can sell DIAMONDS and PRECIOUS STONES to you at lower prices than any other house in New York. It is interesting to know that we bought at prices lower than the present market quotations abroad. JEWELRY we make in large quantities in the LAMBERT FACTORY, on the same premises as the store. Not all of the great stock we show, to be sure, but a large portion. The pieces we buy we secure at the lowest prices BECAUSE we have our own factory to draw on. The LAMBERT stock of WATCHES is the largest in the city. It is composed only of the highest grades in America. We are required to keep a force of the most competent watchmakers. Each watch, from the $3.75 chatelaine to the highest priced, is under the observation of these experts—looked after, examined and regulated. These same watchmakers inspect the watches of the engineers and conductors of two of America's greatest railways—the New York Central and Hudson River and the Long Island. The LAMBERT force knows how to manufacture—how to buy to the best advantage. It is not strange that the arrival of the "LAY AWAY TIME" is attracting increased attention to the LAMBERT CHRISTMAS CORNER. Goods selected now for Christmas are cheerfully laid away till wanted.
